Parks are for playing, not pesticides.

Our kids are exposed to lots of harmful chemicals in their daily lives. Some we can avoid, some we can't.

But when we take our kids to the park, we expect they will be in a safe, green space, at least for a little while.

So it’s concerning to find out that the NYC Parks Department routinely uses chemical pesticides like RoundUp to control weeds and pests in the parks where our kids play. Some of these pesticides are linked to cancer, neurological problems and birth defects. There are better and safer ways to care for our parks!

Other cities are doing it! We are hoping the NYC Council will ban the use of toxic chemical pesticides including Monsanto's infamous glyphosate ("RoundUp").

It’s time to make our parks safe for everyone.
